PHILADELPHIA'S FESTIVITIES,

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND SPEAKS.

He Addresses the Business Men at the Commercial Exchange and Reviews the Great Military Parade.

The Great Celebration. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 16.-The day opened bright and clear, and since daybreak people have been astir. The sounds of fife people have been astir. The sounds of fife and drum early told that preparations were being made for the grand street demonstration of the nation's protectors. Nearly thirty thousand soldiers passed in view before the chief imagistrate and high officers of this and other governments before noon, and at their nead rode General Sheridan. There are at least haif a million strangers within the city's gates to-day. Not a single accident of a serious nature marred the occasion.

The president was escorted by the first city troop of cavairy from Lafayette hotel to the commercial exchange, where a reception was tendered him. Members of the commercial, troop of cavairy from Lafayette hotel to the commercial exchange, where a reception was tendered him. Members of the commercial, stock, drug, grocers and importers, maritime, petroleum, lumbermen, textile and wool exchanges and of the board of trade had assembled in the large hall on the third floor. On the arrival of the presidential party they were accorded hearty cheers. The president of the commercial exchange then introduced the president, who said: "I am glad to have the opprtunity to meet so large a representation of the business men of Philadelphia. It is well that we should not entirely forget, in the midst of our centennial jubilee, that the aim and purpose of good government tend after all the advancement of the material interests of the people, and increase of their trade and commerce. It has sometimes occurred to me that in the hurry and rush of business there might well be infused a little more patriotism than we are wont to see, and a little more recognition of the fact that wholesome political sentiment is closely related not only to general good, but to the general success of business. Of course our citizens engaged in business are quick to see the bearing of any policy which the government may adopt, as it effects their course our citizens engaged in business are quick to see the bearing of any policy which the government may adopt, as it effects their personal success and their accumulations, but I would like to see that broad and patriotic sentiment among them which can see beyond their peculiar personal interests, and which can recognize that the advancement of the entire country is the object for which they may well strive, even though it results in the diminution of constantly increasing profits. And must we constantly increasing profits. And must we always look for the political opinions of our business men precisely where they suppose their immediate pecuniary advantage is found. But how vain it is to hope for the eradication of selish motives in the affairs of life. But I am reminded that we celebrate to-day the triumph of particities over selishto-day the triumph of patriotism over selfishness. Will any one say that the concessions were not well made or that we are not to-day in full enjoyment of the blessings resulting from a due regard for all conflicting interests represented by the different states which were united 100 years ago. I believe the complete benefits promised to the people of our form of government can be secured by the exercise of the same spirit of tolerance for each others' rights and interests in which it had its birth. This spirit will prevail when the business men of the country cultivate political thoughts, when they cease to eschew participatation in political action, and when such thought and action is guided by better motives than purely selfish and exclusive benefit, I am of the opinion that there is no place in the country where such a condition can be so properly and successfully maintained as here, among the enlightened and enterprising business men of Phila lelphia."

After his speech President Cleveland held to-day the triumph of patriotism over selfish-

After his speech President Cleveland held a reception, assisted by Secretary Bayard and Secretary Fairchild, ex-President Hayes, Governor Beaver, Mayor Felter, A. J. Drexel and George W. Childs, After the reception the presidential party drove to the reviewing stand at Broad at Walnut streets to witness the military parade.

The stands were filled to overflowing. On

The stands were filled to overflowing. On the reviewing stand there was a congregation of distinguished visitors, among them being Governor Larabee, of Iowa, Thayer, of Nebraska and many others.

At 11 o'clock the president came down Broad street escorted by a troop of cavalry. Behind them came a carriage with Secretary Fairchild and Amos R. Little. Other carriages followed with distinguished guests. Among them was Rutherford B. Hayes. When the line reached the reviewing stand the president's carriage halted, and as he alighted to take his place on the stand the cavalry saluted him.

alighted to take his place on the stand the cavalry saluted him.

At just 11:30 General Phil Sheridan, mounted on a handsome sorrel horse, came up the street at the head of a vast cavalcade of military, preceded by a squad of mounted reserves. Behind him came the city troops of cavalry, United States light artillery and mounted heavy artillery, with their polished carriages and shining cannons. Admiral Luce rode at the head of the column of the naval turnout preceded by the Marine band. Following closely were a detachment of marines from the head of the column of the naval turnout preceded by the Marine band. Following closely were a detachment of marines from the North American squadron. Governor Biggs came up at the front of the Delaware troops.

As each platoon passed the president their commanders saluted him, receiving in return a bow of recognition from the commanderin-chief. As Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, passed he received a hearty cheer.
Following him came nearly ten thousand Pennsylvania militia. All the companies marched "company front" until they reached Sanson street.

The end of the parade was occupied by the tirand Army of the Republic, and as each post passed in front of the stand its commander gave the salute to the president and was recognized. Post No. 2, of this city, carried in the center of its column twentyone of the flags captured by them during the war. They were a mass of tattered and torn color, but they were honored by the spectators with cheers whose re-echo seemed to never die. It was a fine appearance they made. Some were walking with the aid of crutches and all of them wearing on their visages the unerring finger marks of time. They were a picture of contrast with the youthful militia men who preceded them. During the time they were passing the president remained standing, with his head uncovered and answered each salute as it was given. Orders had previously been issued by the department commander of the Grand Army that only post commanders should salute. This was not strictly observed, however, and many of those of the rank and file passed the stand with uncovered heads.
To give an idea of the enormous should sainte. This was not strictly observed, however, and many of those of the rank and file passed the stand with uncovered heads. To give an idea of the enormous proportions of the parade it may be said that the foliowing is about the number of men participating as near as could be judged from the stand as they passed by: United States troops, 800 Delaware, one full regiment; Pennsylvania, three brigades, about 8,000 men; New Jersey, 1,500; Georgia, 50; Conneticut, 100; Massachusetts, 1,200; Maryland, 1,000; South Carolina, 150; New Hampshire, 150; Virginia, 300; New York, 5,000; North Carolina, 50; Rhode Island, 200; Ohlo, one full regiment; Maine, 400; West Virginia, 300; Iowa, 50; District of Columbia, 800; Grand Army, 7,000, making with the bands and others nearly 30,000. Shortly after the New York troops had passed Mrs. Cleveland, Private Secretary Lamont and wife, Mr. Drexel and others who were with Mrs. Cleveland on the baleony retired and were driven to the Bellevice hotely where they took lumbage with others who were with Mrs. Cleveland on the balcony retired and were driven to the Bellevue hotel, where they took luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Childs, the invitation to luncheon at that hour having been accepted earlier in the day.

When Governor Foraker appeared at the head of the Fourteenth Onlo regiment he was obliged to keep his head uncovered for a long time in order to acknowledge the voeiferous cheers of his friends, who seemed to be numerous. The Fourteenth carried with them the battle-scarred flags left them as a legacy by the late rebellion. Governor Larrabee and his staff at the head of the governor's foot guards of lowa, bowed to the president and also to Mrs. Cleveland as he rode by. also to Mrs. Cleveland as he rode by.

The Reception to the President. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—The reception lo President and Mrs. Cleveland at the Academy of Music to-night was one of the trantest social successes ever witnessed in this city. Long before 8 o'clock the street in front of the academy was a mass of carriages, and fully 10,000 people found their way into the building before the president had grasped the hand of the last comer. Every one was in evening dress and the scene presented was one of unusual brilliance. The immense building was most beautifully decorated. John A. Kasson. of Iowa, president of the centennial commission, acted as master of ceremonies and ushered in Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ryan and visiting diplomats. Then the officers of the army, navy and militia, under the lead of Lieutenant General Sheridan, made their bows and received a grasp of the hand from the president and his wife. After the soldiers and saliors had passed the rest of the audience followed, and it was near 12 o'clock when the hand shaking was over and the worn out visitors allowed to go to their hotels. The president wore a dress suit and Mrs. Cleveland was clad in a beautiful white satin gown, with ostrich trimming in her hair. She wore several clusters of diamonds. way into the building

The Clover Club Dinner. PHILADELPHIA, Sept, 16 .- The dinner of the Clover club this evening was a red letter one in the history of that famous coterie of diners and wags. Many distinguished guests were present, including ex-President Hayes, Justice Harlan, several governors and Justice Harlan, several governors and senators, army and navy officers and members of the Chinese legation. At 8:30 Colonel McClure and W. M. Singerly brought in President Cleveland, who was received with songs and cheers. President Handy, with mock solemnity, passed the "Laving Cup" to President Cleveland, who received it and made a felicitous speech, which was frequently interrupted by characteristic comments and laughter. When he retired the company arose and sang "Oh, He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

THAT NEW YORK INVITATION. Correspondence Made Public About the New York Fire Flags, NEW YORK, Sept. 16 .- Letters were made sublic to-night regarding the declination of Mrs. President Cleveland of the invitation to present certain flags to the fire department of this city on the ground that the president himself was not also invited. The first is from President Beekman, of the board of aldermen, to President Cleveland, aldermen, to President Cleveland, saying in substance that the matter has been misinterpreted by a portion of the public and assuring the president that in nothing could the city be less wanting than welcome and hospitality to the fullest measure to one whom it will always delight to honor (meaning the president.) President Cleveland replied at length, recognizing the misapprehension and ssaying that neither Mrs. Cleveland or himself had the slightest idea of any discourtesy to him (the president), either intended or apparent in the invitation, nor was Mrs. Cleveland's reply intended to recognize or admit the exthe invitation, nor was Mrs. Cleveland's reply intended to recognize or admit the existence of any such intention. Mrs. Cleveland was simply not willing to assume such a public role entirely independent of her husband. The president is now glad she declined because if the plain meaning of her declination is distorted he is sure her conduct would have been if she had accepted. They regret any disappointment to the people or firemen of New York.

Fixing Railroad Rates. NEW YORK, Sept. 16 .- A special committee on export rates appointed at last Saturday's conference of the Trunk Line executive committee, and representatives of the Central Traffic association, held a meeting yesterday at Commissioner Fink's office and agreed to do away with export rates. It was decided to announce that, beginning with next Monday, all freights from western points to the seaboard, whether destined for exportation or not, shall be taken at the regular rate to port indicated as if for consumption there. If the freight be taken on through bills to Liverpool or other foreign poits the ocean rate shall be added. A sub-committee of the conference was appointed to see if some plan of giving through rates satisfactory to both western and eastern exporters could not be devised. It will be two or three tral Traffic association, held a meeting vescould not be devised. It will be two or three weeks before this committee will make a re-

Funeral of Governor Bartlett. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16 .-- The funeral of Governor Washington Bartlett, who died in office, occurred in this city to-day, his remains being taken to Laurei Hill cemetery. He was given a state funeral, and the occa sion was in many respects one of the most remarkable in the history of the Pacific coast. There was a complete cessation of business in this city, and this was the rule throughout the state of California. In this city buildings were heavily draped and flags were displayed at half mast from all public and numerous private buildings. The remains of the governor laid in state for two days in Pioneer hall.

Governor Bartlett came to this city in Governor Bartlett came to this city in 1849.

After reading the Episcopal burial service at Grace church the public escort preceded the body to the cemetery. This included all federal and state lodges and public officials in carriages, 1,000 United States troops and marines, 3,000 national guard troops, in addition to numerous civic societies, making 10,000 marchers.

American Forestry Congress.

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 16 .- To-day's session of the American Congress of Forestry opened with the reading of an interesting paper on the subject of "Forestry," prepared by Joaquin Miller, of California. The commit tee on nominations reported the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Hon. C. R. Pringle, Atlanta, Ga.; vice presi dents, Hon. H. G. Jolry, Quebec, Canada; dents, Hon. H. G. Jolry, Quebec, Canada; Joseph S. Fay, Boston, Mass.; G. H. Par-sons, Colorado; Albert Kinney, California; treasurer, Hon. Martin Conrad, Chicago; secretary, B. E. Fernow, Washington, D. C.; recording secretary, Charles C. Bell, Boone-ville, Mo. Resolutions were adopted nam-ing the months from August to October in-ciusive as the time for holding the annual meeting of the congress, the exact date to be fixed by an executive committee and raising fixed by an executive committee and raising the life membership fee from $10 to $100 The other resolutions refer to measures for encouraging forestry. Adjourned sine die.

A. O. U. W. ST. PAUL, Sept. 16,-The session of the su preme legion A. O. U. W. to-day was principally devoted to the consideration of the fu ture of the order. The most important ques tion was that of opening the membership of the order to others not members of the A. O. U. W. The majority report was accepted, which gave the proposition to the various jurisdictions. At the next meeting if the minority of the jurisdiction are in favor of it the supreme legion will so vote. The next session of the supreme legion A. O. U. W. will be held in Kansas City the third Tuesday in August, 1889.

Mexico's Congress Opened. CITY OF MEXICO, (via Galveston), Sept. 16,—President Diaz opened congress with the usual ceremonies this evening. message, which is of some length, deals mainly with practical topics, the material progress of the country and education. Harmonious relations continue to be cultivated with the United States, and diplomatic com-plaints are generally due to alleged injuries of private individuals. Mexico declines to recognize the dictatorship over Guatemaia assumed by Barrillas until she is assured that it represents the will of the Guatemaian people. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.-The T. J. Pope & Bros. failure appears to be larger than first reported, though the liabilities will probably amount to $800,000, a large part of which is said to be on accommodation paper.

Reunion of Illinois Cavalry. CHICAGO, Sept. 16.-Two interesting and noteworthy celebrations are in progress today and to-morrow, viz.: the twenty-second annual reunion of the Seventeenth regiment of Illinois cavalry.

YOUNG MOSIER'S FATE.

The Murderer of Lawler Sentenced to Be Hung. WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 16.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—The United States district court for the District of Kansas, which neludes most of the Indian territory, adourned to-night after a two weeks' session trying only cases from the territory. Of the en murderers, six got continuances, one was acquitted, two had hung juries and one, Lee Mosier, was found guilty of murder in the first degree, and was this morning sentenced by Judge Foster to be hanged here on Tuesday, November 15.

The crime for which Mosler, who is only about twenty-one years of age, was con-victed, is the cold blooded and pre-meditated murder of Hugh Lawler victed, is the cold blooded and premeditated murder of Hugh Lawler in the Indian territory on October 23, 1885, for which he said when arrested he had been promised $700 by Lawler's wife. He claimed to have some household goods in the territory and hired his victim to drive him after them about fifty miles from Anthony, this state, but unexpectedly Lawler asked the only witness to the killing, a young man named Arner, to go with them, which he did about dusk. While Mosier was riding on the back seat of the wagon and the others on the front seat he raised a double-barreled shotgan which he had borrowed on the road and shot Lawler in the back of the head, killing him instantly, and then turned the gun on Arner, who grappled with him, and in the scuffle broke the gun. Mosier then took one of the teams and rode back to Anthony, where he was arrested a day later. At the trial Arner swore he thought Mosier intended to kill both and take the team. The defense attempted to prove insanity, but were unable to do so. The jury was only out fifteen minutes. When the sentence was pronounced the prisoner did not show the least emotion but walked firmly out of the court. His parents are aged and respectable people, living in the eastern portion of the state, who were present at the trial and greatly overcome by the finding of the jury. A petition to the president asking him to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life is being freely signed by the attorneys and others.

MISTAKEN FOR A LION.

An English Tourist Shot By a Companion Near Laramie. LARAMIE, Wyo., Sept. 16 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE. !-- A terrible tragedy occurred late Wednesday evening at the Twin Mountain ranche of Howard Windham near this city, resulting in the death of a young gentleman named George H. Gordon. Gordon came to America three weeks ago, accompanied by his friend and college mate, Mr. A. W. Whitehouse. Both were students of Oxford and sons of wealthy parents. They were visiting Mr. Windham with a view to future investments in the stock business Wednesday afternoon they saw two antelopes near the Windham ranche, and left together to capture the game. Finally after stalking the antelopes for several hours one of the animals disappeared and the other was seen in a little gulch where the hunters thought they could get him. It was agreed that Gordon should steal along the gulch on one side, while Whitehouse should creep along the bottom so that the game could not escape, and the two separated. It was now dusk and after walking some distance Whitehouse caught sight of an object going through the sage brush about 120 yards ahead of him. He took a long look and finally decided that the object was a mountain lion. He then fired and the object fell. Calling to his partner and receiving no answer, and having heard of the dangerous character of the mountain lion when wounded, he fired three more shots and then rightly supposing the object to be dead, he approached it. He was horrified on getting near to find that he had killed his friend. The bail had struck Gordon in the right temple and passed through his head coming out of the neck below the opes near the Windham ranche, and left todon in the right temple and passed through his head coming out of the neck below the left ear. The body was brought to Laramie id an inquest held Gordon was about twenty-two years of age. His body will probably be sent to England

THE 'FRISCO WHEAT DEAL

A Full Statement of It Filed With the County Clerk. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16,-William Dresbach, one of the chief manipulators of the re cently collapsed wheat deal, has filed with the county recorder a full statement of liabilities and assets. The most startling exhibit is made by the amount of money owing to the Nevada bank on promissory notes The statement shows that Dresbach owes the bank directly $550,000. He also obtained from the bank $6,000,000 on a guarantee given by Charles F. Reid. Reid is a farmer of Yolo county and is a brother of Mrs. Paran Stevens, of New York. He has other Paran Stevens, of New York. He has other wealthy relatives. How he satisfied the Nevada bank is not stated. The summary of the statement shows: Money borrowed on wheat and secured, 71,850,000; owing to Nevada bank, $6,553,000; losses on contracts, $300,000; losses on cargoes en route, $535,000. making the total indebtedness more than $7,500,000, which is practically unsecured, and which is supposed to approximately represent the loss in the great deal. Taken as a whole, the exhibit is regarded as the most remarkable in the history of speculation in this country, and is accepted as a confession of the necessity of the changes which occurred three days

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 - Special Telegram to the BEE, |-- About three years ago Miss Mary Thompson, the belle of Memphis Tenn., and granddaughter of the late Secre tary of the Interior Thompson, was married to young Stonewall Montgomery, owner of several million dollars and of considerable society and political prominence. Soon however, rumors began to circulate to the effect that young Montgomery was not only wild, but ill-treated his wife. Mrs. Montgo mery, about two months ago, disappeared from Memphis. She was provided with letters, came to New York and secured employment from Colonel McCauli as a chorus girt. The young woman's mother some weeks since arrived here and pleaded with her daughter to return to her southern home. Her visit was supplemented by one from the young woman's husband. He commenced divorce woman's nussand. He commenced divorce proceedings in the supreme court without, however, filing a bill of complaint. Mrs. Montgomery has secured counsel to defend the case. This action, it is thought, will lead to a separation instead of divorce. On the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Montgomery will inherit a fortune of $400,000 or $00,000.

A Wild Bace at a Fair. NEW YORK, Sept. 16 .- | Special Telegram o the BEE.]-At the county fair at Freehold. N. J., yesterday, Mile. Loni Cassini, formerly with Forepaugh, rode in a half-mile race the bay gelding Zempa. The horse plunged madly around the track a second time and it became evident the rider was losing her strength. He kept on and on. The seventh round showed signs of failing, but he was not stopped till be had run three and threequarter miles. Mile. Cassini was lifted from the saddle and the crowd cheered. Her habit was fleeked with blood from her lips and her finger tips were blue. In an hour she was able to walk. Several women fainted from excitement while she was being carried about the track by her mad horse. Zemua was raised by D. D. Withers and raced under his colors for two years.

A National Bank Closed.

CORRY, Pa., Sept. 16.-The doors of the First National bank were closed this morning by Bank Examiner Young. It is impossible to learn the financial condition of the concern. Everything is quiet. It is thought that the bank had become entangled with an oil firm that failed vesterday and that this was the cause of the failure.

Johnston Beats Harry Wilkes. St. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE.]—By far the largest crowd yet seen during the state fair meeting assembled at Hamline track this afternoon to witness the races, Fully 13,000 people were present. The principal attraction was the special match for $3,000 between Johnston to wagon and Harry Wilkes to harness. It proved more interesting than was anticipated and the great pair made the best three heats on record. The track was very fast, and although there was a strong wind the day was very warm and the condi-tions favorable for excellent time. Johnston showed ap in magnificent form and Harry Wilkes was in the best possible condition. Johnston was owned for so long a time by Commodore Kittson, of St. Paul that he was almost regarded as a Minnesota horse and probably nineteen out of every twenty persons present desired him to win. That wish was gratified. In the pools he was a red-hot favorite, selling $100 to Wilkes' $16. The race was for the pest three out of five heats. The first heat was extremely close, but at the stretch Johnston took a decided spurt and passed under the wire a length in advance of Wilkes. Time-

2:1614.
In the second heat Johnston was three lengths ahead at the quarter, and four lengths at the half. On the back quarter Harry pulled up and he made a good fight on the stretch, but could not win, Johnson reaching the goal by a length in the very fast time of

He was two lengths behind at the start, but Driver Blair nodded for the word. At the quarter the homely black was ahead. At the half Harry Wilkes pulled up. They came down the stretch in rattiing style, but Johnson won in 2:15%.

Jay-Eve-See Trots Again. LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 16.-|Special Telegram to the BEE|-The races of the last day have been close and more satisfactory than of any day prior, which means a great deal. The total purses were $1,500. The first race was a trot, 2:38 class, purse $250, and required five heats to determine the winner. The first, third and fifth heat was won ner. The first, third and fifth heat was won by C. P. C., of Kearney, Neb.: the second and fourth by Bashaw Bill. Time—2:26%, 2:324, 2:34, 2:344, 3:284.

The second race was a free-for-all trot, purse $800. Three horses entered the contest, which was easily won by Elmwood Chief in three straight heats by lockeying considerably, which ought to have been noticed by the judges. Time—2:25, 2:224, 2:23.

A very pretty four-year-old race broke the record for Nebraska houses for four-year-old colts, purse $350. Onslaught captured the heats in three successive rounds. Time—2:324, 2:284, 3:294.

The last and closing race of the fair was a running race participated in by eight horses, running race participated in by eight horses, half mile dash for $100 and was taken by Pan Wagner. Time—514.

As per announcement Jay-Eye-See trotted his mile. The track was hard, the wind rather strong and an inclination to make it more of an exhibition trot than for speed caused Bither to take the center of the track which, haturally, lengthens the course Time-2:19. By request of outside parties Mr. Bither consented to let Jay-Eye-See trot another mile, which took place at 4:30. Some innocents who claimed to know all about the way cents who claimed to know all about the way Jay-Eye-See was to be handled, tried to ignore the betting laws of the state and staked their dollars with the lads who proved better on guessing as to time. One would have thought a goosery had been established near the judges stand when the little deceiver came under the wire at a 2:21 gait.

Kansas City 9, Omaha 4. KANSAS CITY, Sept. 16.— Special Telegram to the BRE. |-Omaha dropped a game o Kansas City to-day and she lost it largely through errors. Both sides played hard and the visitors outbatted the home team, but to no purpose. In the second half of the first inning Walsh, who headed the batting order, led off with a two-bagger to left and Messitt followed it up with a tremendous threebagger to left, which was only saved from being a home run by sharp fielding, and Walsh came in. Fusseilbach followed with a nice single to left, which enabled Messitt o score, but Fussellbach was caught napping at first by McCarthy and Bader was thrown out at first, retiring the side. Kansas City scored every inning with the exception of the third and had little trouble in winning a complete victory. Walsh's phenomenal work

FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL, NEW YORK, Sept. 14-To A. G. Spalding, Chicago-Dear Sir: have recently noticed severe and, what seemed to me, unjust criticisms on Anson. The papers seem to desire a change of management. Recognizing the ability of Anson both as a base ball player and manager would ask as a special personal favor that any change is contemplated you will notity me immediately. I am not only willing but anxlous to pay more for his release than any other club would. With Anson in charge the present Detroit club would hold the pennant for years to come. Kindly wires me on receipt of this what my chances are of securing him. Fraternally yours.

F. K. STEARNS. P. S.—Would an offer of $10,000 be entertained?

"The letter written by the president of the Detroit club," said Mr. Spalding, "does not surprise me. Very many times we have received inquiries from other club managements asking whether we would entertain a proposition for Anson's release. To all such queries I have invariably replied in the negative." "What has Anson had to say about it him as the defender of the America's cup against the Scotch yacht Thistle resulted in one of the best contests ever seen on these waters. There was a strong wind blowing from north to northwest ali day. It reached a velocity of forty miles an hour. Added to the splendid condition of the elements was the excellent judgment of the committee, who decided, after the yacht got under way, that a triangular race should be sailed. That that a triangular race should be sailed. That decision gave the contestants a course of thirty-eight miles to sail over with the wind on every band, at every turn and in every weather except during the first part to leeward, when the Mayflower sailed better than the Volunteer. The latter beat her opponent. The outcome of the day's race was that the Volunteer was chosen by the America's cup committee, who judged the event from the flagship Electric, to meet the Thistle in an international contest. The Thistle tle in an international contest. The Thistle was out, too, but her handling was of such a kind during the first half of the race as to give no idea of what she could do after that. The Scotch yacht was evidently sailed for all she was worth. With foul bottom and under conditions she was outsailed by both the Mayflower and Volunteer. The Volunteer's time was 4 hours, 20 minutes, 49 1-5 seconds. The Mayflower's time was 4 hours, 36 minutes, 51 4-5 seconds. 51 4-5 seconds.

THE CONDEMNED CONSULT.

SOCIETY'S PARDON SHUNNED.

Nina and Spies Have the Regulation Lover's Quarret, But the Dangerous Breach is Quickly Healed.

Planning For the Future.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.- | Special Telegram to the BEE. |-It was made known to-day that the condemned anarchists had held a consultation among themselves to talk over their case in its various bearings. A close friend and member of the defense committee saw them afterwards, and when he left the jail was induced to make known the result of the discussion. He said they had talked over two things-first, the question of whether they shall appeal to the supreme court of the United States, and, second, the great petition which it is proposed to get up, pleading for executive clemency. The last measure was voted against unanimously. The condemned men said they had done nothing for which to ask the pardon of society; that society ought rather to ask their pardon. As for an appeal to the supreme court, that is a different thing. Some of them felt that they should use every resource to be found in law and then their death, if consummated, "will accurse the system." The person who told this said in addition that no matter what the final decision of the men was, their friends would go ahead and make every effort for a reversal of the judgment by the United States supreme court. In the event of that failing a petition would be gotten up.

A local paper states this evening that there is a lover's quarrel between Miss Nina Van Zanut and August Spies. This morning the lady called at the jail, ac-This morning the lady called at the jail, according to her usual custom, and went to the west end of the cage. Sples, who was pacing the farther end of the corridor, soon saw her and coming to the screen the pair engaged in what seemed to be an intensely interesting conversation for a few minutes. Spies then turned on his heel and walked away, while his waiting bride called to him without recalcing a real. Then sha slowly away, while his waiting bride called to him without receiving a reply. Then she slowly turned away and left the jail. As she passed out her eyes were filled with tears and when Turnkey Pierce said, "You are going early this morning," her lips quivered in a sob and tears fell as her lips tremblingly said, "Yes." About ten minutes later she returned and had a talk with Spies and when she left at 10 relate the second less a phasmy. had a talk with Spies and when she left at 10 o'clock she seemed less unhappy. Spies has been treating her very coldly of late. Yesterday she stood lifteen minutes in the cage before he condescended to notice her, and then his actions indicated that he re arded the conference as something of a bore. It is suggested that the novelty of the foolish young woman's infatuation has probably grown dull to the anarchist and the daily visits are becoming tiresome to him.

Mrs. Engle and Mrs. Parsons also visited the condemned this morning. When the Captain Black says there is nothing to tell about the movements of the defense until he hears what arrangements have been made in the east and who will conduct the case before the supreme court, if it is taken there.

Hope in Justice Miller. CHICAGO, Sept. 16 .- It is stated as probable that the counsel for the condemned anarchists will ask for a writ of error to Justice Samuel F. Miller, of Iowa, of the United States supreme court. Judge Miller is known to be strongly opposed to capital punishment. His convictions on this subject may probably induce him to grant a writ of error should he be applied to for that purpose. It is stated as more than ever probable that General Roger A. Pryor will be retained by the condemned anarchists through the defense committee as associate counsel to argue their committee as associate counsel to argue their appeal in the United States supreme court.

A Democratic Prize Fight. BALTIMORE, Sept. 16,-|Special Telegram to the BEE.]-A number of members yesterday in the merchants' club house became engaged in a political controvesy. The most prominent were: Dr. Pembroke Lea Thom, ex-speaker of the house of delegates, and Colonel Gorrin Wariield, surveyor of the port of Baltimore, and Senator Gorman's chief lieutenant. Thom accused Colonel Wariield of being a tool of political bosses who run the city. He also said if the colonel would step outside the club he would klek him. Wariield declined to pay any attention to the doctor's remarks. A few minutes later Warfield left the club house, closely followed by Thom. When the pavement was reached it's doctor repeated his threat he had made itside the club, and added that he thought the colonel was a cur. Warfield struck the doctor's eye, which sent the old man to the ground, then the colonel walked away, and the doctor, who is probably twenty years Warfield's senior, was taken in charge by friends.
